

BRITISH VALUES

There are 5 fundamental British values:

Democracy

The British parliament is based on democracy, democracy allows ordinary people to have a say in what the government does. This allows voters to decide how their country or community is run. By law you must be 18 years of age to vote.

Rule of Law

Rule of Law concerns the relationship between the state and its citizens, and states that no one is above the law. All UK citizens must obey the law and are equal under it.

Individual Liberty

In Britain, as long as we are within the law, we are free to live our lives however we please and have our own opinions. Everybody has freedom to rule themselves.

Mutual Respect

Even though not everybody will agree with each other we should have respect for others thoughts and feelings and can expect others to show you respect in return.

Tolerance of different faiths and beliefs

In Britain we accept that other people might have different beliefs than ours and may believe in different religions and we should have respect for all faiths and beliefs.
